I was very pleased with the work Jack McGovern of Central Heating Installation and Services has done for me over a period of time, this includes investigating a mystery smell and taking measures to reduce its reoccurrence as well as an annual service on the boiler at my house.

However, what really showed me that Jack is not only good at his job but willing to go the extra mile, was the gas boiler service he carried out for my elderly mother. He was considerate and thorough and took the time to explain things to her. When we asked him to make a follow up call he did so promptly and without hesitation.

Thank you Jack - I am happy to recommend you to anyone for your excellent work as a plumber and central heating specialist as well as a kind and considerate person.
